County Chairman

"O WAD SOME POR THE GIFTIE GIE US, TO SEE OURSELVES AS OTHERS SEE US"

- Robert Burns

Once again my colleagues, the Chairmen, Secretaries, Treasurers and Public Relations Officers of the constituent Districts of Surrey Scouting met with the County Commissioner, the County Secretary, the County Treasurer and myself on February 4th. This time in Ewell and on a Sunday afternoon when the hostile weather of preceding weeks had not yet made up its mind to retract. The size of the attendance was similar to previous such meetings which was particularly encouraging under the circumstances.

I am in no doubt that everyone present was especially appreciative of the contribution made to the meeting by our guest, Ted Hayden, Headquarters Executive Commissioner (Administration) - not only because of the valuable advice he gave but also because of the very attractive and entertaining style of his address. I feel we would want to record, here and now, our appreciation of his coming to us despite the weather and the fact that he is engaged seven days (and nights!) every week on Scouting affairs. His commitment to the Movement must be an inspiration and a boost to our confidence in the devoted staff at Headquarters and in the field, who support us.

It seems very possible that, as a result of our discussions with him we may be able, some time next year, to set up in Surrey a two-day weekend course for District administrators which many obviously feel would be helpful, not only to the newly appointed, but also to those who have been doing such jobs for some years and feel the need to acquire updated information.

We talked in the meeting a bit about ourselves, feeling that self criticism is sometimes a worthy and productive activity and there seemed to be a welcome for the County's decision to seek the President's help in setting up a Strategy Group to take an objective look from outside at Surrey Scouting and offer us realistic advice on "ourselves as others see us". The first meeting of this Group was held by the President's invitation at his home on January 25th (despite the weather) and this was an initial exploratory exercise. The second meeting to get down to detailed study was held on March 22nd. On both occasions the County Commissioner and I were in attendance to give background data and answer questions, and of the deliberations of the Group, more anon when I write another contribution to "Surrey Scout".

For the moment let me say I believe the Strategy Group will give us food for thought and I am hopeful that, later in the year or early in the next year, we shall call a full meeting of the County Scout Council, as the representative body of the Movement in Surrey, to consider the advice and recommendations which are offered.

The Strategy Group is made up of people who can reflect all walks of life, commercial, industrial, public service and the establishment and we are fortunate in having Mr. J. W. M. Wilson, an executive director of a well-known company, as convenor.

Visits Abroad by Cub Scouts:

A recent problem has highlighted the need to draw attention to POR (1977 edition) part 2, Rule 73 i (1979 edition) part 2, Rule 73 v (a). The full implications of this rule are unfortunately not apparent in that approval in principle must be obtained from both Steve Hall and myself at least 18 MONTHS before going. Final approval of your plans must be obtained before Cub Scouts are told and at least 8 months before departure. There is a leaflet about this obtainable from me so do get in touch as soon as you begin to think about such a visit. I must emphasise that these rules do not apply to the "Day Trip" across the Channel so successfully undertaken by Packs in the County for many years past. Early planning for these trips obviously is essential and you do have to complete the P.C. (Abroad) Form which is obtainable from me.

Sound the trumpet!

It is fitting that we should salute those who have rendered specially distinguished services to Scouting over many years and are the recipients of this year's St. George's Day Awards. I am sure that all readers of "Surrey Scout" will join with me in offering them our warm congratulations.

No one comes into Scouting with the thought of attaining any Award. But it was a happy inspiration of our Founder that right from the early days of Scouting, this method of acknowledging outstanding services has been a feature of the Movement. As I read through my records of those who have gained St. George's Day Awards over the years and of the many more who have received Medals of Merit and the Chief Scout's Commendation, it is a source of pride that there are so many people in the County who, over many years, have freely and generously given themselves to Scouting. It is also a matter for concern that there must be many others, Leaders and Administrators, Instructors and helpers, who have been equally devoted and untiring in their services but who may not have been singled out for recognition in this way.

We will soon be embarking on the season of Annual General Meetings at all levels; Group, District and County. I hope that the opportunity will be taken to make a special point of expressing appreciation for all the hard work being undertaken, week after week, year after year, by everyone concerned with Scouting and whether in a uniformed or non-uniformed capacity. A word of thanks goes a long way.

Sound the trumpet!

Scout Bands have been a feature of Scouting from its earliest days. At one time we had a good many bands in this County. Now there are only three Groups with active bands and three more which would have bands if only suitable bandmasters could be found.

I would like to think that the tradition of having more Scout bands in Surrey will be revived. The talent is certainly available and those who play in bands derive not only personal satisfaction from mastering their instruments but also in making music together. Furthermore, a good band gives much pleasure to others and is a real asset in fostering good public relations. Well organised, a band should not interfere with normal Scout training but should be an extension of it. It can also provide an opportunity for collaboration with our Sister Movement to our mutual benefit. Scout and Guide bands can draw on a wider field of talent and, no less important, a larger source of fund-raising for instruments are not inexpensive.

But we need expert advice on how to go about starting up new bands, reviving old ones and raising the standard of the few already active. It would be nice to see some trophies for bandmanship coming into Surrey!

We have been very fortunate over the years in being able to call upon the services of Les Brown, County Band Adviser for G.L.S.W., but we cannot ask him to go on looking after Surrey's bands in addition to those in his own County. We need a Band Adviser of our own.

I am delighted to announce that, thanks to a timely introduction from our County President, we now have as County Band Adviser in Surrey, Lt.-Col. D.A. Pope, OBE, FRCM who for 19 years was Bandmaster of Lord Hamilton's own Regiment, the Coldstream Guards.

Colonel Pope will be well known to many readers of "Surrey Scout". Some will have marched to the music of the different bands he has conducted over the years. Others will have heard them on the radio or on recordings. His military career lay in music. After graduating from the Royal Military School of Music, Kneller Hall, he became in turn, Bandmaster of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders; The Royal Military College, Sandhurst; and the Royal Army Service Corps before taking over the Band of the Coldstream Guards. He became Senior Director of Music of the Brigade of Guards and of the A.C.F.

On retiring from the Guards in 1963, he became Director of Music at the Guards Depot (Junior Musician's Wing) and Professor of Instrumentation at Kneller Hall until he finally retired last year.

I list these appointments simply because it shows the wealth of experience which Colonel Pope is readily making available to all aspiring bandmen in Surrey Scouting! I hope all Groups with bands already or thinking of starting or reviving their own, will quickly establish contact with Colonel Pope. It is a unique opportunity - let's use it!

Scout Fellowship

Venture Scouts

We had a very interesting discussion at the Scout Fellowship Sub-Committee at the end of February, grateful thanks to Bruce Wood (A.C.C. Venture Scouts) who came along to take part. It is clear that greater efforts must be made by Scout Fellowships throughout the County to forge strong links with Venture Scouts so that when a Venture Scout reaches his twentieth birthday he will naturally continue Scouting in the Fellowship. It is suggested that Fellowships should make contact with each Unit in the District through the A.D.C. (Venture Scouts) and involve Venture Scouts in Scout Fellowship activities before the Venture Scout leaves the Unit.

Scout Fellowships throughout the County have agreed to organise the County Venture Scout Competition which will be held on November 17th/18th.

Untapped Talent

It is disheartening to hear continual cries from Scout Fellowships that their vast expertise and talents are not being used by Districts - Fellowship members can do more than be car park attendants and tea-makers. If we are to attract the young men, fresh from Venture Scouting, we must use their practical Scouting skills and give them a chance to put back into Scouting some of what they have taken out. Badge Courses and Competitions immediately come to mind - but there are plenty of other times when Scout Fellowship members can be useful. Let's get it straight - Scout Fellowship will not work if it is given no work to do!

Jamboree Camping Competition

The Scout Fellowships of the County are together organising this National competition which is being held at Perry Wood Campsite on 14th-16th September.

Meetings

I am reminded of the story of the Salesman who approached one of the leaders in the War of the Roses asking him to have a look at the marvellous new invention called 'a gun'. "Don't be silly", said the leader, "Can't you see I am too busy trying to win this war to have time to look at what you have got!" And so it is with Scout Fellowship - some Districts are too busy trying to provide better Scouting for Boys that they have no time to send someone to the County Fellowship Meetings. The next meetings are on 30th May and 26th September. It is also hoped to break new ground with a special Basic Course for Scout Fellowship members of which more details are to come.

Help

Some Districts are doing very well indeed with Scout Fellowship, others can't get off the ground. I am more than happy to help in any way possible to get the Fellowship off the ground, please let me know what I can do for you.

ERIC MACKIE

Cub Scouts

The Developed Arrow Scheme

A word first about the philosophy of the scheme. The scheme now gives the Cub Scout a choice of activities within four development areas for each arrow. The choice made by the Cub Scout should not be a free one, but a guided choice, made with the help of his Leaders. This is one of the first stumbling blocks some Leaders put up to say that the scheme will not work because boys of Cub Scout age cannot choose for themselves. I would dispute this by pointing out that boys of this age in many cases, choose what to spend their pocket money on, their friends, what games they will play, who will win, etc.

The next problem which comes up is one of standards. I can hear Leaders saying "How will I be able to maintain the standards?" The answer is simple, you carry on as before. Then the standards varied from Pack to Pack and boy to boy, under the old scheme a boy passed his test when he had reached the set standard or had done his best. In the new scheme, the level of achievement is not set down, all that is asked is that a boy shows progress and has done his best in the activity chosen. It must be remembered that a boy did not always have to show progress to pass tests in the old scheme, which was hardly a good thing.

The next question to be asked is, "How is the new scheme to be operated?" This is not an easy question to answer. Personally, I operated the scheme for almost two years with a fair degree of success. But in that time, I came to the conclusion that it could be operated in many ways. The activities could be graded so that there is built in progression but still allowing a wide range of activities from which a choice may be made, or the choice can be made from the lists of activities as they stand.

A Cub Scout may make his choice from week to week which is very time consuming and does not allow in-depth programme planning. He may make his choice for a complete arrow with either his own instructor or Akela. This would allow time for any special requirements he may have to be built into the programme.

The Cub may then show progress in his chosen activity either in small groups or with the Pack as a whole. How this is done will depend upon the Pack, its help and its resources. The Pack evenings may take the form of the old special type Pack Meeting, or it may be on a base system one for each development area, or the instruction group basis, where a group of Cub Scouts working for the same arrow have their own instructor.

In my opinion the best system is for each boy to have his own instructor and then incorporate all the above methods into the programme.

In conclusion the important points to remember when operating the new scheme are:

1. Ensure that the Cub has the widest possible choice all be it guided from the four development areas.
2. Make sure the scheme is progressive, if not as a whole then for each boy.
3. Plan your programmes to suit the needs of the boy, having first established what they are.
4. Do not be afraid to change your scheme if you find it too demanding to operate.

Cub Country

There have been problems at Headquarters with the Cub Country Pack as they have been very popular and demand has outstripped supply but I understand that this has now been put right. Over £2,000 has already been received at Headquarters for the Nepal project. Please remember to keep me informed of your Cub Country activities.

Address

Please note my address is 17, Briarwood Road, Stoneleigh not Brianwood. I apologise for the error, it was probably due to my poor hand-writing.

STEVE HALL

County Chaplain

With any luck, by the time this is published the cold weather of winter will be over and spring will have begun. While we have preferred to stay at home "in the warm" on winter evenings perhaps we have also reflected on the plight of people who are "out in the cold" both summer and winter. Sometimes it's because they're handicapped, or old in a youthful group or young in an adult one, or coloured, or illiterate.

The warmth of a handshake and the understanding which flows from it can bring the warmth of spring to such people. And all of us in the Scout Movement share the privilege of spreading such understanding and concern.

Just after the cancellation of the Iran Jamboree I was talking to the International Commissioner - Stewart Hawkins - and he was telling me how the Scout programme in Iran has been developed so that members work to meet the needs of the community. They learn simple agricultural methods or study health and hygiene - and then as Venture Scouts teach other people.

In our busy well-to-do society it's the people who are "out in the cold" who need our care. And some of them will be unattractive in manner and looks, and not very friendly towards us at first - but they still need our care. After all, those are the ones Jesus loved most of all.

I will be out of the country on a Scouting engagement from the beginning of July until 6th August.
Please refer any urgent matter during this period, which would normally be referred to me, either to the County Commissioner or the appropriate department at Headquarters.

Grant Applications - Building Projects

We have just been informed by the Department of Education and Science of an amended procedure for submission of building project applications. This is designed to assist organisations with their forward planning and fund raising in connection with projects.

In future, it will be necessary for the Group or District applying for a grant to send outline details of the project to me by 1st May prior to the submission of completed applications by the end of June for inclusion in the County Council budget for the year commencing 1st April following.

This year, it is particularly important to let me have outline details by 1st May and full details by 31st May. This second date will enable me to process the application before my July absence. Late applications run the very real risk of a whole year's delay.
