WEMBURY DEVON

Map O.S. Sheet 201-M.R. 543498

or O.S. Sheet SX. 54.

The Site

The camp site, available for local and visiting Scout Groups, consists of about seven acres of woodland on the west bank of the Yealm Estuary. This heavily wooded estuary is well known for its scenic beauty and its protection and conservation is a matter of national concern. Its steep slopes provide many acres of unspoilt woodland and harbour many wild plants and animals (squirrels, foxes and badgers are common). The woods immediately to the south of the site are covenanted to the National Trust and the whole area is scheduled for Enterprise Neptune. There are 2 separate camping areas, cleared from thick woodland, each large enough for a camp of 5 patrols.

Access

The site is about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile off the main Elburton - Wembury road and is approached by a farm track through private farm and woodland. Drivers of vehicles should take care and remember that they have a right of way only - the track is in constant use by others.

Amenities

Site No.1 - Woodpecker - An open camping area for 5 patrols. Wood hut (32ft.x 16ft.) containing a kitchen with running water, calor gas stove and lighting; Two flush toilets and large room with tables, chairs and floor mattresses to sleep 16 persons.

Site No.2 - Badger - a clearing capable of taking approx. 5 patrols, with its own water tap.

Toilet/Shower Block - Situated between the 2 camping areas, 3 showers (cold) and washing facilities.

Camp Fire Circle which is also suitable for Scouts Own Services.

A separate Overnight/Reception area for hike camp or an advance party.

There is ample timber for wood fire cooking and camp fires, but no trees are to be cut down and no wood is to be obtained from outside the camp boundary which is marked by a wire fence. The land bordering the site is private with no right of way or access for camping parties or public.

There is a large variety of trees around the site, and everyone is requested to ensure that they are preserved and respected.

The site is approximately 2 miles from Wembury Beach, a safe swimming area (provided normal precautions are taken) and 4 miles from the Plymstock Broadway Shopping Centre (Supermarkets, P.O., Chemist, Hardware and Newsagents Shops), and 7 miles from Plymouth.

A suitable centre for visits to the local Naval Dockyard and Ships, Hiking on Dartmoor, Pony Trekking, Rock climbing, Abseiling, Fishing, Sailing and Canoeing.

Parking

As the land bordering the site and the lane is private there are no parking facilities except those on the site itself (e.g. none at 'The Woodlands'). About 5 cars can be accommodated at the top end of the site adjacent to the hut. Note the final approach is by a steep track and drivers of vehicles are advised to take extreme care.

Refuse

Refuse should not be buried as, in the thin top-soil it is impossible to bury it deep enough to be out of reach of badgers (who are great diggers) and foxes. Flammable waste should be completely burned whenever possible. Incombustible waste should be removed from the site. This should be bagged, tied and deposited at the junction of the lane and Wembury Road before 0800 on Mondays. On no account should it be left out overnight (it will be molested by animals or trampled on by cows).

Public Transport

The nearest British Rail Station is at Plymouth. A Plymouth City Bus passes the lane access. Service No. 48 (Plymouth to Wembury), from Royal Parade.
